

67 Land of Eternal Summer

D.J. Kessinger

D.J. Kessinger

Arr. D.J. Kessinger & A. Robison

1. Stand - ing a - lone in the dark of night, I'm
 2. Sit - ting with friends, in the light of day, my 3. Day af - ter day, I will stand for God, in home - sick and scared and weak. Won - der - ing when cares all have been de - layed. Still I can tell dark - ness or in the light. Teach - ing His love,

I will fear no more and en - ter that land I seek.
 that this world is flawed and this il - lu - sion must fade.
 and of His mer - cies; I'll nev - er give up the fight!

My foes de - ceive and my friends be - tray! This Some men be - lieve that there is no hope and Je - sus has said those who fol - low Him will world can - not be my home! When will I see all that we do is vain. But I be - lieve en - ter that land of peace, I will re - main that land prom - ised me and nev - er - more fear be - ing a - God has made a land where all of the saved shall live a - on this world to work, and dream of the day my work will lone?

 gain. Land of e - ter - nal sum - mer, Land that's re - served for cease.

me! Land that for so long I have wait - ed. Oh

Lord! How much lon - ger will it be?

© 2015 D.J. Kessinger